INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM RAPPED BY M'DERMOTT

Tells Illinois Club People Cannot be Assembled

COUNTRY IS TOO LARGE

Peoria, Ill.,—Lieut. Gov. Mc Dermott, of Kentucky, gained somewhat of a sensation at the Washington birthday banquet of the Grove Club by making issue with Gov. Dumm, of Illinois, on the initiative and referendum.

"We can't safely change our republic into a pure democracy or hybrid democracy," said Mc Dermott. "In a country as vast as ours, the people can't be brought together to assemble and to govern directly. We need representatives in order that there may be calmness and careful action. If the people can't wisely choose honest and capable lawmakers and executive officers, they cannot wisely pass upon proposed laws or judicial decisions or administrative acts."

"There are a few questions that can be very appropriately submitted and that ought to be submitted to a popular vote, but to expect the people to vote upon a great many questions, whether simple or complicated, is to expect more than has ever been or ever will be satisfactorily done."

"If elections be corrupt under the old system, they will be corrupt under the new, if good men cannot be elected to legislative bodies under the present system, they cannot be elected into legislative bodies that are not to be trusted to decide simple matters of legislation."

Gov. Dumm made an address favoring the initiative and referendum.

Children are much more likely to contract the contagious diseases when they have colds. Whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever and consumption are diseases that are often contracted when the child has a cold. That is why all medical authorities say beware of colds. For the quick cure of colds you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by All Dealers.

Came Near Being Severely Burned By Burst Siam Pipe

Tuesday afternoon, Colby Brown, engineer at Arnold mines, had a narrow escape of being severely burned about the face, but by chance had his left arm in front of his face and received a severe burn on his wrist.

The cause was from the bursting of a three inch steam pipe with a one hundred pound pressure.

Dr. Nesbit thinks the wound will soon allow Mr. Brown to again attend his duties, provided he takes care of his wound.

Saving The Waste

Acceding to a story told by a person in a position to know, a new machine has just been invented which should prove to be a big factor in cutting down the amount of money now spent by big railroads, manufacturers, or, in fact, any person or company which uses waste to clean up engines, machinery, etc. This invention cleans and restores the oil waste, which at present is thrown away, to its original state, so that it can be used over and over again.

Dr. Davis Recieves Some Rare Specimens of Furniture

Rufe Graham, a farmer who lives near the city, who is moving to Los Angeles, Cal., presented to his cousin, Dr. P. B. Davis, a bedstead that belonged to the Dr.'s great grandfather. It is over 130 years old and is yet in a good state of preservation. He also gave him a desk that belonged to Wm. Baker, who was at one time before the war, sheriff of this county, and Mr. Baker kept all the papers of this office in that hand made desk. Mr. Graham did not want to carry these old relics with him, and to keep them in the family, made them a present to his cousin Dr. Davis. With the many things he has now of collecting old antique furniture in the city, these pieces would be eagerly sought after.

The Professional Agitator

The man who rants and loudly cries
That liberty has perished,
Who says there's naught
Now left of what
Our good forefathers cherished,
Is he that wants to tread upon
The sacred rights of others,
Who thinks that he Alone should be
The keeper of his brothers.

The man who says that all is wrong
And that we face disaster
Would quickly cease
And hold his peace
If he were chosen master—
If raised to power he'd cease to see
The faults that he is finding;
Much may be lax
But there's an ax
He wishes to be grinding.

The man who tells you nothing's wrong,
That all are rogues who rule us,
Is merely out
To scatter doubt
And join the ones who fool us;
The worst of all our foes are those
Who, with self approbation,
Hope for a crash
And get good cash
Through useless agitation.

Ladies Aid Society Meets

The Ladies Aid Society of the Catholic church held their first meeting at the school hall Wednesday afternoon with a membership of twelve.

They elected Mrs. Nellie W. Umstead, President; Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, Vice President and Miss Anna H. P. S. e. and Treas.

There are no obligations to this society aside from devoting one afternoon of each week to plan sewing, and those who do not wish to do this, may assist in some other way.

This is for a worthy cause and we hope more of the ladies in the congregation will become interested in it.

AGRICULTURAL WASTE

Waste on the farms total a sum almost unthinkable in its magnitude. It is true that under present conditions much of the waste cannot be helped. But a gold eagle lost through a hole in the pocket is as much a loss as one deliberately tossed into the sea. The remedy would be to locate the hole and sew it up.

Not long ago the Agricultural Commissioner of the Rock Island System published the statement that cornstalks made into ensilage were worth 60 per cent. of the value of the grain; and that by wasting their stalks the farmers were losing $1,000,000,000 a year. It would not be necessary to look further if one were after an illustration of agricultural suicide. But another instance can be seen in the present wasteful system of ginning and baling cotton, together costing the planters an unnecessary $10 a bale, which on the crop of 1912 would aggregate at least $135,000,000.

Many good farmers have their seed plots, and cross fertilize their plants with the care shown by a breeder of race horses. But the majority shovel their seed from the bin at planting time; sell the large potatoes and plant the little ones. Applying to the crops of 1912 merely the difference in yield estimated by the Department of Agriculture between the use of heavy-weight and light-weight seed, this would make a difference of $750,000,000. Can anyone say how much it would have amounted to had all the farmers planted well-bred seed?

The Department of Agriculture is sponsor for the statement that 1,000,000 tons of tow could be saved from the flax straw that is now burned. In the surplus grain states also after threshing the straw is burned to get rid of it; $70,000,000 gone up in smoke! It is true the all-grain farmer has not the livestock to utilize the straw (and the paper mills are not calling for it) so he has to get rid of it. But his flax, wheat and other straw has taken from the soil vast quantities of the three elements without which no crops can be raised. No matter what the reason for its not being returned, the land suffers the loss.

Through these four leak-holes pour a stream twice as large as the cost of the Federal Government. There are many more sources of waste directly or indirectly affecting the farm. One of high importance is the present policy of pointing the outlets of the city sewers toward the sea, or worse still the river, converting an incalculable source of wealth into a menace to human lives. Elimination of waste is a problem vitally affecting the country's agriculture. Obviously, it cannot be carried to the perfection of scientific industrial production, but the waste is now so great that an enormous salvage is certainly obtainable.—Wall Street Journal.

GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! HAIR WILL LOOK BEAUTIFUL

All You Need Is A 25 Cent Bottle Of "Danderine"—Hair Gets Lustrous, Fluffy And Abundant At Once

Immediate?—Yes? Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a daudering hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it; surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knoolton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

WOODROW WILSON'S INAUGURATION

Our New President, With William Taft at His Side, Pronounced the Occasion a Day of Dedication

WILSON VISIBLY MOVED MEMBERS OF HIS CABINET

Washington, March 4. Under the dome of the national capitol in the presence of countless cheering thousands of his fellow citizens, Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated president of the United States. Only a few minutes before Thomas R. Marshall had been inaugurated vice president of the United States with impressive ceremonies in the senate chamber.

TAKES THE OATH

With members of his chosen cabinet about him, justice of the supreme court before him, his wife and daughter gazed upon him from a platform below, and William Howard Taft, ex-president, at his side, the new president pronounced the occasion a day of dedication, not of triumph, and sounded a summons to all "Honest, patriotic and forward looking men" to aid him.

With the closing of the president's address, the retiring president clapped his hands and enlisted in the ranks of private citizenship.

"Mr. President," said Taft, "I wish you a successful administration and carrying out your aims. We will all be behind you."

WILSON VISIBLY MOVED

The military and civic pageant that followed this climax of inaugural ceremonies was more than five hours passing in review and the marchers were still saluting the president in the court of the white house when darkness fell. President Wilson standing in the glare of electric lights, was more than once visibly moved by the enthusiasm and demonstration of the marchers, but it was the sight of the Princeton students that apparently stirred him the most. Not long after the boys of old Nassau had passed, the president entered the white house to grasp the wheel of the ship of state.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous surface of the tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

GERMANY TO HAVE YEAR OF JUBILEE

Centenary of Prussian War Will Be Celebrated.

CEREMONIES BEGIN SOON.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Kaiser's Reign on June 15 Will Start Night of Festivity—Gigantic Olympic Stadium in Berlin to Be Dedicated.

Berlin.—The year 1913 will be twelve months of jubilee and festivities in the fatherland. They will include the commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of Prussia's war of liberation against Napoleon and the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Kaiser's reign. The war celebrations will be formally inaugurated on March 10, when the emperor has ordered an elaborate series of religious and military ceremonies to take place in every Prussian garrison.

At Berlin he himself will be the central figure at solemn services at the cathedral, in which all the princes of the royal house and the military and naval dignitaries of the kingdom will participate.

After divine services and a parade of troops there will be another commemoratory ceremonial at the statue of Frederick William III. in front of the royal castle.

KAISER WILHELM II.

The Kaiser has ordered all monuments in parks and public places commemorative of the war, including old cannon, to be freshly decked with laurel wreaths in honor of the day.

All military buildings will be flagged, and at the royal theaters patriotic plays will be performed in the evening. Similar festivities will be held in all the larger Prussian cities.

Meantime the preparations in celebration of the Kaiser's silver jubilee on June 15 are actively proceeding. Berlin's most inviting plan as far as foreign tourists are concerned will be a season lasting two or three weeks, on the near the London model as local conditions will permit.

The scheme is in the hands of an influential committee headed by Baron von Gersdorff, one of Professor Max Reinhardt's chief lieutenants, and it is planned to organize a program of most varied amusements, including operatic, theatrical, artistic, sporting and social events of the first magnitude, and, if the season proves successful, it is hoped to make it a permanent feature of Berlin summer life.

The dedication of the gigantic stadium, where the Olympic games of 1916 will be held, will be one of the main features of the forthcoming season.

Highest Priced Coal is Close To Richest Coal Deposits

There is a tiny hamlet in Southern Alaska, called by the natives Katilla, boasting of a few hundred inhabitants, which coal-ly knows what the high price of coal means. Each and every ton burned in that town costs exactly $21.75. And within twenty-five miles is one of the richest coal deposits in the world. It is the famous coal region about which the Pincho-Ballinger-Cunningham-Guggenheim controversy was waged. The Federal Government now controls these deposits, and the inhabitants of Katilla are prevented, through this control, from mining their fuel needs, which total only sixty tons annually, and are forced to depend upon fuel mined many hundreds of miles away.

AMUNDSEN WILL EXPLORE ARCTIC

South Pole Discoverer to Make Trip in 1914.

TO USE WIRELESS OUTFIT.

Will Not Go to the Pole, Says Famous Voyager, but Will Confine Efforts to Scientific Research—The Fram to Be Used Again.

New York.—Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, whom the United States formally recognized as the discoverer of the south pole at a dinner given in his honor by the National Geographic society at Washington, has made public the tentative plans of his contemplated cruise in arctic waters in 1914.

"I will leave San Francisco in June, 1914," Captain Amundsen declared, "and will proceed to Alaska and on up through the Bering sea. The Fram, the vessel in which I sailed into the antarctic before making the last dash to the pole, is now at Buenos Aires undergoing repairs and a thorough overhauling. She will proceed to San Francisco, where I will board her.

"It is my intention to endeavor to sail up the Alaskan coast into the Arctic ocean and through the Northwest passage to Greenland, the reverse of my previous trip in the Gjoa."

Captain Amundsen said he had no idea what he might find on the voyage. There might be an extensive archipelago in his path, he said, and then there might not be.

"I really have no idea what I will encounter," he said. "That is why I am going to make the trip."

The next six months, he added, he would spend in an extensive lecture tour of the United States and Canada. In July he intends to return to his home in Norway, where he will stay until the time for his cruise in the Arctic ocean arrives.

"I will have from twelve to fourteen men with me," the explorer said. "They will be practically the same men who accompanied me to the south pole. At present they are in Norway, studying and preparing themselves for the next voyage."

Asked if he expected to run across any of the blond Eskimos reported by Stefansson, Captain Amundsen smiled and said it was not likely.

"I have never seen any in my trips in the Arctic," he said. "But I would hardly care to express an opinion as to their existence. Mr. Stefansson I know to be a very reliable man, and I place great credit in his statements. The purposes of my voyage are purely scientific. Little is known of the vast region north of the continent, and any data we may obtain will be extremely valuable."

"It is likely that I will have a wireless apparatus on the Fram on this trip, although that is still an open question. It would doubtless assist greatly in making observations, for through the aid of stations which it is proposed to be established in northern Alaska, Spitzbergen and points in Greenland, comparisons of the climatic conditions that could thus be made would be extremely useful."

"I do not intend to go to the north pole. What would be the interest? It has been discovered, man has been there and there would be no incentive. We shall confine ourselves to purely scientific studies of the currents and lands with which we may come in contact."

Since his last visit to this country, made prior to his successful trip to the south pole, Captain Amundsen has removed his mustache and beard.

"It is necessary to be smooth shaven in the cold regions," he said. "Contrary to the general belief that a beard warms the face, it is a great hindrance. It catches foam and a beard becomes a source of great pain and annoyance."

"The mean annual temperature at the south pole," he added, "is 15 degrees below zero, F. The warmest it ever gets there is 30 degrees, and I have known the mercury to descend to 75 degrees below zero. One never has a chance to stand around and freeze, however, for there is always a vast amount of work to be done. At times when we were snowbound we worked at perfecting our apparatus, and time never dragged."

INDIANS' ELECTRIC PLANT.

Tribe Will Also Have Sewers, Water-works and Fire Protection.

Victoria, B. C.—The Indians of the Queen Charlotte Islands have already a national reputation for enterprise, but it was left to the Skidegates, whose village lies at the southern end of Vancouver Island, to back the most ambitious undertaking ever projected by a coast Indian nation.

This year they propose installing an electric system for lighting their village and furnishing power for a variety of industrial enterprises to be carried forward on co-operative principles. They will also put in a modern sewer system, waterworks and complete fire protection equipment.

The Skidegates are just a little ahead of the whites of British Columbia in the encouragement of the love of art, offering a tribal prize annually for the best specimen of original composition. Their band enjoys the reputation of being the best Indian band in America. Its honorary president is H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada.

NO. 13 IN THE ARCHBALD CASE

The Superstitious May Find Shivers in This Record.

Washington.—Ex-Judge Robert W. Archbald, formerly of the United States commerce court, may not be superstitious, but he has reason to dread the cabalistic number thirteen. It was on Feb. 13 nearly a year ago that the formal complaint was made to President Taft by Commissioner Meyer of the interstate commerce commission against the respondent. On July 13 a message was received in the senate from the house saying that the house had impeached Judge Archbald. There were thirteen articles of impeachment in all, and the vote was taken on the thirteenth hour of the thirteenth day of the month in the year 1913.

The respondent was found guilty on the thirteenth number article, and the sum of the numbers of the other separate articles on which he was convicted, taken in their numerical order, totals thirteen.

ONE TOE, $1,262.50.

Provo, Utah.—What is the value of a young woman's toe? This question will be answered in the Fourth district court, where suit was filed by Miss Irene Berry of Springville against Dr. F. A. Graham, a dentist and chiropodist. For the loss of two toes Miss Berry asks $2,525. She says that she applied to the dentist for relief from two corns. He removed the corns, but it later became necessary to remove the toes.

BRICKS THAT WILL LAST THROUGH AGES

Lost Art of Roman Brickmakers Said to Be Discovered.

Rome.—Giuseppe Giovannetti, a young Roman, who had already discovered a pigment for frescoes whose resisting power surpasses that of the ancients, has now discovered the lost art of brickmaking as practiced by the Romans 2,000 years ago. This is the opinion of experts who have tested bricks made by the Giovannetti system, which resists fireproof, excessive cold and every other destructive element and apparently would last unimpaired for endless ages.

The secret has been given to the Italian government. Experiments being made with the new bricks tend rather to confirm than shake the most exaggerated reports of their durability. Building experts declare that a new era has dawned in the construction of large buildings. Contracts being made for all the new dwellings in Tripoli contain a clause stipulating that these bricks must be used.

Boston.—Representative Whitfield F. Prime of Winchester is author of a bill which is now before the Massachusetts legislature which, whether it becomes law or not, will attract wide attention. He hopes to attract by the passage of the bill a substantial diminution of the number of breach of promise suits. All possible attempts at blackmail, he thinks, would be effectively blocked by such a law.

VIRGINIA TO GET ASHES OF GEN. LEE

Owner of Cumberland Island Gives Consent to Removal.

PUTS AN END TO LONG FIGHT

Georgia D. A. R. Wore Unwilling to Lose Remains of Famous Revolutionary Leader—Father's Grave Approved by Robert E. Lee in 1870.

Brunswick, Ga.—Mrs. Lucy Carnegie has given her consent to the removal of the remains of "Light Horse" Harry Lee, Revolutionary hero and father of General Robert E. Lee, from the burial ground on the Carnegie plantation at Dungeness, on Cumberland Island, to Virginia.

This ends the long fight of the Georgia division of the Daughters of the American Revolution against the removal of the body. General Harry Lee died on Cumberland, and his body was buried there, and there it has remained for more than a century.

A year ago the Virginia legislature named a committee and appropriated $500 to remove the body to the Lee burial ground at Lexington, Va. It was not presumed at that time that there would be any objection to the transfer. The legislature decided to gather the dust of all the Lees at one spot. But the Georgia Daughters opposed the removal from the first.

At their meeting at Marietta last spring the Daughters adopted resolutions against the removal of the remains on the ground that it would be an act of desecration to disturb them at this late date. The movement was headed by Mrs. J. H. Redding of the Waycross chapter, who got up a petition which was signed by hundreds of the Daughters throughout the state.

It was the intention of the state regent to have the matter brought to the attention of the Georgia legislature at its last session, but for some reason it was not done.

The strongest argument made by the Daughters against the removal was a statement made by General Robert E. Lee after 1870. He was reported to have said on that occasion that he was satisfied with the resting place of his father and that no prettier or more restful spot could have been chosen for his grave. The Daughters contended that if General Lee was satisfied the Virginia legislature ought to be.

In later years of his life General Harry Lee went to Cuba in search of health. After a time, being only slightly improved and very weak, he determined to return. On his way he stopped to visit his friend and companion in arms, General Nathaniel Greene, the then owner of Dungeness and Cumberland Island. He never got any further. He fell suddenly and finally died there. He was given burial on Cumberland in the little cemetery of the Greeses. A small stone slab marks his last resting place.

RESULT OF 50 YEARS' LABOR.

Old Woman Buys Clock For Village Church in Hueland's Memory.

Geneva.—In the church at Breugnot, in the canton of Argovis, a clock that has cost $4,000 has just been placed, the gift of an old woman who labored for fifty years to save the money to pay for it. The clock has been put in the steeple of the church, and when it was installed all the officials of the village took part in the ceremony.

The old woman who gave the clock is seventy-six years of age. Her husband died when she was twenty-four. She was then the village beauty, but instead of marrying again—her husband had left her penniless—she earned her own living by working as a household servant or in the fields.

She toiled for half a century and obtained the reputation among the villagers of being a miser. The object of her self denial was revealed when she presented the clock as a memorial of her husband to the village, and now, instead of being an object of ridicule, she is the heroine of the place.

ABDUL HAMID'S QUEER PRIZE.

Ex-Sultan Gets $26,000 in Will to Build Peace Temple.

Berlin.—Abdul Hamid, ex-sultan of Turkey, comes into possession of $26,000, given him by a German admirer for the purpose of erecting a temple of peace in Constantinople. Of all men in the world Abdul would probably be the last to lay the cornerstone for such an edifice.

Two years ago at Leipzig a curious old man of the name of Zoellner died, leaving his fortune, $26,000, to the ex-sultan with the above stipulation. He evidently had forgotten that he had a niece in very poor circumstances, who was just able to make her living by her work. She brought suit to break the will, but the supreme court of Leipzig ruled against her. The ex-sultan gets the money then, and one wonders when he will lay the first stone of his temple of universal peace.

NAVY COATS ET AL. TO BE RE-ENLISTED

Admiral Has Rebuttal For Goat Incident.

Norfolk, Va.—The goats, monkeys, cats, dogs, parrots and other pets aboard Uncle Sam's fighting ships at the Norfolk navy yard, which were banished a few days ago when, report said, Rear Admiral R. M. Doyle was bitten by a goat on the quarterdeck of the battleship New Hampshire, will be restored to the jockies, and there is joy in the fleet again.

Assistant Secretary Winthrop of the navy department took their banishment seriously enough to investigate it and let it be known that the department did not approve their summary removal.

Admiral Doyle indignantly denied that the goat had bitten him and announced that he had ordered the removal of the pets because medical officers thought they might have something to do with cerebrospinal meningitis and measles at the marine barracks.

The admiral further announced that when the danger of infection was passed the mascots would be permitted to return.

Lincoln, Neb.—Mrs. K. E. Cleveland, wife of a Burlington railway official, died here of hemorrhage of the brain brought on by a dream that she had been poisoned.

Mrs. Cleveland's stepdaughter died in convulsions two weeks before, the result of poisoning. On the night following the funeral Mrs. Cleveland drowned that she had died just as had her stepdaughter. She was seized with cerebral hemorrhage and soon became unconscious.

AWFUL SECRET OF MURDERER

Daniel Webster's Vivid Portrayal of the Tortures That Beseet the Guilty Soul.

Meantime, the guilty soul cannot keep its own secret. It is false to itself, or rather it feels an irresistible impulse of conscience to be true to itself. It labors under its guilty possession, and knows not what to do with it. The human heart was not made for the residence of such an inhabitant. It finds itself preyed on by a torment, which it dares not acknowledge to God nor man. A culture is devouring it, and it can ask no sympathy or assistance either from heaven or earth. The secret which the murderer possesses soon comes to possess him, and, like the evil spirits of which we read, it overcomes him and leads him whithersoever it will. He feels it beating at his heart, rising to his throat, and demanding disclosure. He thinks the whole world sees it in his face, reads it in his eyes, and almost hears the workings in the very silence of his thoughts. It has become his master. It betrays his discretion, it breaks down his courage, it conquers his prudence. When suspicious from without begin to embarrass him and the net of circumstance to entangle him, the fatal secret struggles with still greater violence to burst forth. It must be confessed, it will be confessed. There is no refuge from confession but suicide, and suicide is confession.—Daniel Webster.

GETTING CLOSE TO NATURE

Stretch Yourself Out Beneath an Oak and See if You Feel This Way

Whether its branches show green against a dusky blue sky—gold where the sunlight touches them—whether its leaves show mottled in the light of the setting sun, or black and silver in the moonlight, there is no tree of them all to compare with the oak. All a summer's day you may lie stretched beneath it, so strong and so friendly, not to you only, but to all the little lives that swarm about its roots. All kinds of busy creatures—ants, spiders, daddy-longlegs—beloved of your childhood go scurrying over you on this errand and that, as unafraid, almost, as if you were dead. A feeling of kinship comes to you: a knowledge that all this life about you is oak and grass and insect, and the good dog lying at your feet, is but a little part of the ageless flux and reflux; soothingly as a cool hand on an aching head there comes to you the realization that soon fears, hates and loves forgotten, your tired body shall rest under the trees all the days and all the nights.—Atlantic Monthly.

WARM TRIBUTE.

It was in a little country town in the west of England, says the Bristol Mirror, and Mr. Goodman, excellent citizen and kind-hearted man, allowed himself, much against his own will, to be chosen mayor for the fourth time. After the event, he met Mr. Jones, one of his warmest admirers, who shook him heartily by the hand.

"I'm right sorry, Mr. Mayor," said the worthy man, "they've putten on you the trouble of officiating for another term, with all your many calls and worries of business; a far worse man would have suited us—but that was just the trouble. We couldn't find him—and it's my opinion as he ain't to be found."

WINE OF KIRK-KILISSEH.

Under its own name Kirk-Kilisseh, now figuring in the war news, conveys nothing to the majority of Englishmen, but incognito, so to speak, it is very well known indeed. For Kirk-Kilisseh is a place of vineyards, producing an excellent wine, which is eagerly purchased by French firms, shipped to Bordeaux and sold as the "best Bordeaux." And so it comes about that many smack lips over "Bordeaux" that is really Kirk-Kilisseh.
